

$1 MILLION IN IPM FUNDING AVAILABLE THROUGH TWO NORTHEASTERN GRANT PROGRAMS
The Northeastern IPM Center is requesting applications for funding through two separate grants programs: the Northeast Regional IPM Competitive Grants Program and the IPM Partnership Grants Program. Support for both programs comes from the National Institute of Food and Agriculture. Eligibility and application requirements are briefly described below. If you have questions about either program, please contact grants manager John Ayers, co-director of the Northeastern IPM Center, Penn State University (phone 814-777-1291; email jea@psu.edu).

NORTHEAST REGIONAL IPM COMPETITIVE GRANTS PROGRAM

Approximately $600,000 will be available in 2011 to support projects that develop pest control tactics, integrate tactics into an IPM system, and extend IPM information to others. This program seeks applications for three project types: Research, Extension, and Joint Research-Extension.

ELIGIBILITY: Organizations eligible to receive awards through this Regional IPM Competitive Grants Program are state agricultural experiment stations, land-grant colleges and universities (1862 and 1890), research foundations established by land-grant colleges and universities, colleges and universities receiving funds under the Act of October 10, 1962 (16 U.S.C. 582a et seq.), and accredited schools or colleges of veterinary medicine. If necessary, award recipients may subcontract to organizations not eligible to apply. Project directors must be based in the northeastern region.

SUBMISSION AND DEADLINES: A letter of intent is due Thursday, Oct. 28, 2010 (submit to grants manager John Ayers). Complete proposals are due Monday, Nov. 22, 2010 (applicants must work with their authorized organizational representatives to submit online through Grants.gov <<http://Grants.gov/>>). IPM PARTNERSHIP GRANTS PROGRAM -- REMINDER: Applications due Monday, Nov. 22, 2010

A total of up to $450,000 will be available in 2011 through the IPM Partnership Grants Program. Anyone in the Northeast may apply. For complete information and application instructions visit <http://northeastipm.org/grants-partnership.cfm> <<http://northeastipm.org/grants-partnership.cfm>> .

The NEIPMCommunication-L list is owned by the Northeastern IPM Center, which fosters the development and adoption of integrated pest management, a science-based approach to managing pests in ways that generate economic, environmental, and human health benefits. We use the list periodically to distribute news about IPM funding opportunities, research and extension projects, and great IPM information sources. To join or unsubscribe from the list, please send a request via e-mail to NortheastIPM@cornell.edu.
